

I am writing to complain about the possible threat to Indiana's no call list, this is not something that should be in dispute it should be up to the subscribers. My telephone line is for me and correspondence with people I know or have given my number to. The fact that anyone can obtain my number or call me without knowing me is gross invasion of my privacy. I don't care whether these companies are non profit making or charities or whatever, I do not want to be called without my permission. I regularly give to charities through other means, those who call my house without my permission will never get a penny from me because telemarketing is the most annoying form of marketing communication going.

Save our no call list!!!!
